The Bardogs' Return to Their Southern Rock Roots with Release of New Single "Top Of The World"; Kick Off Summer Appearances July 23 at The Orchard

Denpasar, Bali, Indonesia
July 14, 2022

Toward the end of 2021, The BARDOGS were in the recording studio with American producer Deane Ogden tracking their second record.

TOP OF THE WORLD, the follow-up to their breakthrough debut SOUTHERN SOUL, features ten all-new songs that chronicle the band's transformation into an international act over the last two years. The Bardogs' frontman, Aulya Rahman, said of the band's new material,

"We've definitely evolved as a band and so has our music. This new album represents the true Bardogs sound, from songwriting to style. When I compare it to our first record, which was heavy on Southern Rock and Blues, I think about how we have grown even stronger as a band through these last few years but still root ourselves in that Southern Rock harmonic tradition. In writing this new record, we found a freedom from limitations that pushed us musically and lyrically."

"Top of the World", the title track from the new album, releases July 15, 2022 on SOULsvc Records to more than 700 digital streaming platforms worldwide, including Joox, Tik Tok, Amazon, iTunes, Instagram, Google Play, Spotify, Bandcamp, Tidal, Shazam, and Pandora.

The band will kick off their summer and fall concert appearances with a July 23rd return to their home turf at The Orchard, the venue that launched their European "Crossroads Tour" in 2018.

Please contact Deane Ogden or Graeme Storr of SOULsvc MGMT at info@soulsvc.com for July 23 show guest list, interviews, or promo copies of "Top of the World".
